

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information processing apparatus includes a scrolling section which changes a display on a display screen from a first display region to a second display region by a scrolling process, and a return section which returns the display to the first display region in response to a cancellation of the scrolling process by the scrolling section.

10

15

20

25

30

35